4. Functional Limitations and Support

The term "activities of daily living" refers to the basic tasks of everyday life. When people are unable to perform these activities, they need help in order to cope, from either other human beings or mechanical devices (such as a walker or wheelchair) or both.

Why do we want this information? Measurement of the activities of daily living is critical because the more assistance people need with their daily activities, the more likely are they to be admitted to a nursing home or other living arrangement; to use paid home care; to use hospitals and doctors; and to die sooner rather than later.

Place an X in the box that most applies for each activity.
